SONG OF YESTERDAY

Phillip Michael Shirley
256 pages, Paperback
Publishing Summer 2025

CRIME

Two police detectives with more than their fair share of work; missing women, blackouts, a tiger on the loose, not to mention a dark stranger looking for the town's famous recluse. And just for good measure there is hysteria around a rock from outer space which experts say is the most dangerous and valuable thing on earth. For the inhabitants of Arcadia it's just another day in paradise.

PHILLIP MICHAEL SHIRLEY is the author of numerous books - biographies, essays and novels - including The Rivers That Run Through Us and The Soul of Boxing, longlisted for the William Hill Sports Book of the Year. He now lives in Kent.
